

Goals and Objectives for Participating in Restricted Registration Program in Neurosurgery

- Provide a continuing source of clinical exposure to residents who are taking a leave from the regular residency training program to pursue a period of research training.
- Maintain patient peri-operative management skills in neurosurgery during a period of research leave from the residency program.
- Maintain operative technical skills in neurosurgery during a period of research leave from the residency program.
- Provide a period of practical exposure to the requirements and challenges of blending a research and clinical career.
- Provide an income supplement to the resident who takes a leave from the residency training program to pursue research and suffers a loss of income as a result.